Built between 1235 and 1365 the Saint Martin's collegiate church is an important example of Gothic architecture in Alsace. Because of a fire in the south tower in 1572 the framework and all the roofs were destroyed. The tower was replaced three years later by the original lantern bulb (a construction on the top of the dome which has the form of a lantern) which gives the Church its characteristic silhouette. The church has been restored several times. In 1982 during the most recent restoration, foundations of a church from the

The first mention of a Christian sanctuary in Turckheim dates back to 898. In the 12th century, it was replaced by a Romanesque building, of which only the magnificent bell tower remains. The current church was built between 1834 and 1839. It was restored after a fire on 6 July 1978. The Pastoral Tourism team is on duty in July and August: Monday to Friday from 10:00 to 12:00 and from 14:30 to 17:30 (subject to volunteer availability).

This memorial, located in the medieval town of Turckheim, in a vaulted cellar of the former presbytery (18th century), recalls the two months of fighting to liberate Colmar during the harsh winter of 1944-45. Weapons, equipment, uniforms, posters, photographs and mannequins of the German, American and French armies are on display, as well as models of armoured vehicles and combat aircraft. It also contributes to the preservation of a threatened historical heritage.
